Standard Windows

European Romantic is characterized by tall, relatively narrow windows typically in groups of two, three, four, or five windows separated by posts or mullions. The height of windows should diminish with each succeeding story. All windows have a divided-light appearance. Windows surrounded by stucco should be deeply recessed from the facade to create the illusion of thick walls.

Special Windows

Special windows include bay windows, oriel windows, dormer windows, and small accent windows. Bays should be constructed of a light material, such as wood, and should be composed of casement windows with a divided-light appearance. Dormers should be shed or gabled type, typically with paired casement windows. Small decorative accent windows are encouraged, especially in powder rooms, closets and halls.

Shutters

Plank/board or panel-style shutters are encouraged as an accent. Wrought iron lift-off hinges, shutter dogs and latches are also encouraged. Shutters are not permitted on half-timbered areas.

Doors

Plank/board or panel-style single doors with a round or arched top and wrought iron accents are preferred. As with windows, doors should be recessed as deeply as possible. Detailing around doors is encouraged.

Trim

Wood trim is typically 4 to 6 inches for windows and doors when siding is used. Ornamental cast stone or wood lintels and sills are encouraged for masonry window and door openings. Stucco should typically return to the window—eliminating the need for most trim. Half-timbering functions as trim in these areas.
